

FSAVC

PENSION MIS-SELLING

You may have been the victim of mis-selling and entitled to thousands of pounds in compensation, if:

- ✓ The financial adviser did not assess your attitude to taking risks with your money
- ✓ All other retirement saving options that would have been available to you were not explained
- ✓ You were not informed about the fees and charges you would be paying
- ✓ You were not given sufficient information about how your premiums would be invested
- ✓ It was not explained that there could be tax penalties applied to your FSAVC policy at retirement

If one or more of the above points apply to you, you've probably been the victim of FSAVC mis-selling.

Compensation payments for being mis-sold an FSAVC can often run into tens of thousands of pounds. Please contact me if you would like more information or to chat through your own situation.

I am a fully qualified financial consultant and pensions specialist, authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority to recover your losses if you have been the victim of mis-selling.

I only work on a "no win, no fee" basis so there will be absolutely no charge if you do not have a successful case.

I have helped many, many happy clients recover their losses, winning compensation payments of up to £90,000.

TRUSTPILOT REVIEWS

Ms F (Doctor)

I was very dubious about approaching a no win no fee service but I have been thoroughly impressed with Greg and I would recommend him to anyone who needs legal advice in this area. I have spoken to other advisors about my pension issues and none have given me the clarity or explanation that he gave me within just one email. I could not be more impressed- thank you Greg.

From Ms J (Teacher)

His personal yet professional approach was apparent from the outset. He ensured I understood all aspects of the procedure and communicated clearly throughout. I cannot recommend him highly enough.
